

Matthew Engel

Matthew Engel serves as Vice President of Langsam Property Services Corp. Langsam is a full service real estate management company responsible for the overall operation of approximately 11,000 apartments in nearly 350 buildings.

Mr. Engel works with all facets of the organization, including asset management, building operations, and law enforcement coordination. As such, he is able to assist each department while keeping the firm on the cutting edge of new technology and economic development. Mr. Engel also oversees internal office administration, fuel purchasing, claims processing, luxury condominium development and the management of a portfolio of luxury properties.

Mr. Engel is a licensed Real Estate Broker in the State of New York and a Certified Property Manager as designated by the Institute of Real Estate Management (IREM). He also holds a New York State Insurance Broker license. He serves on the Board of Governors of the Bronx Realty Advisory Board (BRAB).

Matthew Engel graduated from the Wharton School at University of Pennsylvania in 1999 with a Bachelor of Sciences degree and a concentration in Real Estate and Finance.

Mr. Engel previously served as a Senior Consultant at Ernst & Young's Real Estate Advisory Services Group, working to analyze specific real estate projects and organizations. His duties included understanding clients' operations, processes and technology, identifying financial and strategic improvement, and outlining plans for implementation of these improvements.
